St. James's, April 7.

This Day the Right Honourable the Lord Mayor, Aldermen and Commons, of the City of London, in Common Council aſſembled, waited on His Majeſty, and being introduced to His Majeſty by the Earl of Bute, one of His Majeſty's Principal Secretaries of State, made their Compliments in the following Addreſs, which was ſpoke by Sir William Moreton, Knight, the Recorder.

To the King's moſt Excellent Majeſty,

The humble Addreſs of the Lord Mayor, Aldermen and Commons of the City of London, in Common Council aſſembled.

May it pleaſe your Majeſty,

GRaciouſly to accept the humble Congratulations of your ever dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Lord Mayor, Aldermen and Commons of your City of London, in Common Council aſſembled, upon the Glorious and Important Conqueſt of the Strong, Fertile and Opulent Iſland of Martinico, and the Conſequential Surrender of Sainte Lucie; Acquiſitions doubly valuable, as they conſiderably diminiſh the Naval and Commercial Strength of France, and proportionably extend and ſecure the Commerce and Navigation of Great Britain and her Colonies.

The amazing Rapidity of this Conqueſt reflects a Luſtre upon our former Triumphs, as well as the higheſt Honour upon the Royal Wiſdom that planned and directed, the Skill, Unanimity and Activity that conducted, and the heroic Valour of the Fleet and Army that effected It with ſo little Loſs, and leaves your Majeſty at full Liberty to turn your victorious Arms to other Places, where the Enemies of your Majeſty, and your Kingdoms, are no leſs vulnerable, and will moſt ſenſibly feel the Neceſſity of diſſolving their late dangerous Compact, and of ſubmitting to Terms of Peace, adequate to our Succeſſes, and the Expences of this juſt and neceſſary War; Your Majeſty, undazzled by the Splendour of repeated Victories, having no other View than to vindicate the Honour of your Crown, and to eſtabliſh and ſecure the juſt Rights and Poſſeſſions of your Subjects.

In ſo laudable a Purſuit, ſo becoming the Father of His People, your Majeſty may firmly rely on the ſtrongeſt and moſt chearful Efforts of the grateful Citizens of London, united in Duty and Affection to your Majeſty's Sacred Perſon and Government, and in Zeal for the Glory and Proſperity of their Country.

Signed by Order of Court,

James Hodges.

To which Addreſs His Majeſty was pleaſed to return this moſt gracious Anſwer.

I Thank you for your Loyal and Affectionate Congratulations, upon Our late Important Succeſs. Too much Praiſe cannot be given to the Bravery and Conduct of My Fleet and Army. You ſay truly, that I am not dazzled by the Splendor of repeated Victories: The permanent Proſperity of My People, as a Free and Commercial Nation, has always been the Object of My Ambition: What conduces moſt to that End, I ſhall ever count My greateſt Glory.

They were all received very graciouſly, and had the Honour to kiſs His Majeſty's Hand.
